

In preparation for St. Patrick's Day, Third Class learned about our Celtic roots. Here are our wonderful Celtic Knots, which we made with coloured card.

We also learned about different myths and legends. Here are some of our diary entries from Fionn and Niamh from Tír na nÓg.

St. Patrick drove all of the snakes out of Ireland, so we made some spiral snakes and observed how heat made them spin. Here we are working very hard painting our paper plates for our spiral snakes.

To celebrate World Book Day, our door was decorated to look like the cover of George's Marvellous Medicine, by Roald Dahl; which we are also really enjoying reading as our class novel.
